THE WELD THAT HELD

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT, examines the joint.

STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the union is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because thousands of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made by a large factory, in this same welded by electricity.

It is made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every time handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

- That the wires are not broken at the joints.
- That the fence is perfectly smooth on the ground.
- That the steps will not separate in any strange.
- That the fence is all right in every detail.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely certain.

TWO HEAD ITEMS.

August 15.—In company with Miss Vera Elsik we left Sunday, July 23rd, for West, Texas, to attend the annual convention of the Bohemian and Moravian Brethren, which was held July 5th and 6th. This convention proved to be the greatest ever held by this church. There were several hundred visitors present and delegates from many churches over the state.

The first day of the convention was devoted to the Sunday School Union and to the Mutual Aid Society.

On the second day there were two candidates ordained for the ministry, Joseph Barton and Joseph Hegar, who have recently graduated from Eden Theological Seminary of St. Louis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Juren, President of the Union; Rev. Ad. Chlumsky, Rev. B. Kubricht, Rev. C. Wolff, official representative of the Evangelical Synod of North America, which has opened its school to the Union, and Rev. S. D. Press of St. Louis.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers. A large tent was spread in the yard, under which three long tables were set with good things to eat and ice lemonade to drink.

Granger was selected as the next place of meeting in July 1911.

The following were from Shiner: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elsik and son Louis, Mr. Tom Laza and Misses Vera Elsik and Fannie Nedbalak.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsik and Miss Vera Elsik left for Caldwell to visit relatives while the writer remained to visit with friends around West, Abbott and Leroy.

West is a lively town, somewhat larger in size than Shiner, on the M. K. & T. railroad, eighteen miles above Waco. The population is comprised mostly of Americans and Bohemians. The land is very fertile. Fruit trees are doing well. I saw some of the nicest peach and pear trees bending down with fine fruit.

On July 12th I left Leroy and went to Marlin for a little recreation, where I remained three weeks. For the first few days I was rather homesick, but the next week Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Remmers of Shiner came in and of course we often talked about Shiner—it made us feel so good, but we missed our nice, fresh well water, oh, so much.

In Marlin one can see all kinds of people and it is quite interesting to watch the big crowd at the well.

One afternoon, five days before election day, while passing by the court house a crowd of men and women attracted our attention and we joined in and heard one of the candidates speak. It was a solid stream of talk. This wise and philanthropic guy kept oozing out gratuitously to every one great torrents of his "hot air."

No let up, nor will there be. Death cannot put a cessation to his generosity, as his posterity, with a doubled tendency in that line, will continue perpetually their free distribution to all mankind an avalanche flow of illimitable quantities of atmospheric warmth from their great American reservoir until time shall be no more. How do you like big windy wisecracks?

On July 20th, between 5 and 7 p. m., a crowd of young folks, chaperoned by two married ladies, had a picnic on the Oil Mill Lake. That we had a dandy time goes without asking. The boat ride was delightful when the sun was setting and then under the silvery moon. We had the finest lunch one could wish for, which made some of us think of home. We represented seven different states of the Union—Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, Tennessee, New York, Iowa and New Mexico. Next thing on the program was a drive to the Brazos river on the following day, was enjoyed very much by every one.

When my departing day came I was glad and little bit sorry, too, for I won't miss my good friends during my stay in Marlin.

August 20th.—This morning ominous clouds are still hovering over and around us, but as yet we have no rain that could be of any benefit to the parching vegetation. A sprinkle now and then is the record of the threatening weather of the past two weeks or more.

Ye scribe visited at Sweet Home last Sunday and saw the pastures in some places green yet, as they had a heavy rain there on the 4th. The crops there are in about the same condition as they are here.

We learn that Prof. F. G. Havel will move from our midst and will teach at the South Mustang school the coming season.

Miss Mary Elsik of Wied is picking cotton for John Elsik, Jr. "Lemon squeezer," won't you please show up?

"FAN."
[Good for you, Fan. Come again.—Ed.]

Life On Panama Canal
has had one frightful drawback—malaria trouble—that has brought suffering and death to thousands. The germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "Three bottles completely cured me of a very severe attack of malaria," writes Wm. A. Fretwell, of Panama, N. C., "and I've had good health ever since." Cures stomach, liver and kidney troubles, and prevents typhoid. 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Death of Ernst Wolters.

The sad news was received from Schulenburg last Sunday of the death of Mr. Ernst Wolters, brother of Max and Julius Wolters of our city. Mr. Wolters was stricken suddenly with congestion of the brain and lingered but a short time. He was 54 years old and leaves a wife and three children and three brothers to mourn his untimely taking off. The funeral took place Monday and was attended by Mr. J. A. Wolters.

To School Patrons.

Remember that school books are strictly cash. We cannot afford to break this rule. The exchange period of school books has passed and there will be no more books exchanged until there is a change of books all over the state.
